Literature versus Traffic by Spanish art collective Luzinterruptus.

An installation of 10,000 LED-lit books at Federation Square in Melbourne, Australia for The Light In Winter festival.

The books, recently retired from area public libraries, were given a second life as a glowing river that flowed through the square and into a nearby street. On the final day of the installation, onlookers were invited to take the books home.

When I wake up, the other side of the bed is cold. My fingers stretch out, seeking Prim's warmth but finding only the rough canvas cover of the mattress. She must have had bad dreams and climbed in with our mother. Of course, she did. This is the day of the reaping.

I prop myself up on one elbow. There's enough light in the bedroom to see them. My little sister, Prim, curled up on her side, cocooned in my mother's body, their cheeks pressed together. In sleep, my mother looks younger, still worn but not so beaten-down. Prim's face is as fresh as a raindrop, as lovely as the primrose for which she was named. My mother was very beautiful once, too. Or so they tell me.

Sitting at Prim's knees, guarding her, is the world's ugliest cat. Mashed-in nose, half of one ear missing, eyes the color of rotting squash. Prim named him Buttercup, insisting that his muddy

Kontextfusion und Konsensillusion

"Alle schreiben so furchtbar viel Unfug bei Facebook und bei Twitter", muss man oft von Menschen hören oder lesen, die gar nicht so neu im Internet sind. "Aber du hast dir die Leute doch ausgesucht, denen du da folgst", sage ich dann, "in meinem Internet stehen lauter intelligente und interessante Dinge. "Das lässt mich klug und den anderen dumm aussehen. Es stimmt nur leider nicht ganz. Meine Freunde und die Menschen, denen ich bei Twitter folge, geben neben ihren intelligenten Beiträgen falsche Meinungen und unhaltbare Ansichten in erheblicher Menge von sich. Täglich möchte ich mit dem digitalen Besen an die digitale Decke klopfen, um sie davon abzubringen. Man kann - wie es die Klageführer in der Regel tun – annehmen, es sei Facebook, das die bisher so klugen Freunde auf rätselhafte und vermutlich irgendwie amerikanische Weise verdumme. Oder man kann vermuten, dass die Freunde schon immer zweifelhafte Ansichten und Vorlieben hatten und
